Five-Hour Parley Ends in Deadlock

OTTAWA (CP) - Personal mediation by Labor Minister Starr failed Monday to settle the long strike-created tieup of the CPR's west coast shipping fleet.

Mr. Starr reported no success after about five hours of meetings with officers of the CPR 'Act At Once' and the Seafarers' International Union (CLC), on strike since

Forest Fires

PORTLAND (AP)—Lightning crackled over eastern Oregon forest lands Monday night, touching off new fires in the woods and on range land parched by the dry spell. Two lightning-set fires burned together in the Snake River country, covering nearly 500 acres by Monday night.

Two flanks of the blaze were burning out of control.

Starr's conferences with CPR and seafarers' heads to produce a metal result, Mayor Scurrah said, was "not unexpected, before cause if Eric Taylor couldn't settle it, nobody else could do it."

Let the Merchants Do It

"failure" to prosecute stores trading illegally on Sundays are barking up the wfong tree. It isn't the council's job to take the initiative in this instance; nor has it any authority to do so.

Jurisdiction with respect to Sunday trading comes under the Lord's Day Act. The city can regulate only week-day business under legislative powers contained in the new-Municipal Act. Though there is no conflict between them, separate statutes regulate trading on Sundays and week-days.

week-days.

If any authority were to move against merchants who break the Lord's Day Act it would have to be the police, and up to now the city police-have turned a bilind eye towards the practice. That is a poor attitude to encourage in any community, since it tends to bring the law into disrespect. And yet in this instance we fall to see why it should be any function of a municipal police force to act as store inspectors.

This newspaper is wholly opposed to wide-open Sundays such as are permitted in other places on the continent. Apart from religious principles we believe the community would prefer to have one quiet day in seven. Merchants now objecting CRITICS of the city council for its failure" to prosecute stores trading rantly as everyone knows quite well—do not appear to be moved by these considerations, however. They have not mentioned desceration of the Sabbath, and the core of their complaint may be taken to be opposition to unfair competition in

> They are fully entitled to take that position. It is grossly unfair that mer-chants who respect the law should have to watch others doing a roaring trade on Sundays and getting away with it. Nevertheless we fail to see that the taxpayers interests would be served by using their police force for the purpose of fighting unfair competition on behalf of business as a whole. The police have far more im-as a whole. The police have far more important business to attend to; and the force is spread thinly enough over the town as it is. If store inspection and prosecution were to be systematic and continuous the size of the force would have to be increased, at public expense.

In the circumstances the only fair solution would appear to be for the merchants to police their own trade, gather the evidence necessary to sustain an information and present a complete case to the police for court prosecution. The police the police for court prosecution. The police have neither the men nor the time for that sort of "leg work."

offers a vast market for the products of this country, and the present exchange of goods is a mere dribble to what it might be. B.C. particularly will eye his efforts with interest, for it stands to benefit from any agreement that can be effected.

Mr. Churchill will go under certain handleaps, which the Chinese may not be slow in pointing out. There is the ban on exports of subsidiaries of American firms operating in this country, for instance, as an expression of the Dulles foreign policy. Because Washington does not permit American firms to do business with Communist China their Canadian subsidiaries are compelled to toe the same line. In essence this is an infringement on Canadian sovereignty and it won't enhance Mr. essence this is an intringement of Canadian sovereignty and it won't enhance Mr. Churchill's chances in Peiping unless the present Ottawa government puts an end to it before he goes. Firms doing business in Canada should subscribe to Canadian export practices.

The American position results mainly from remembrance of the Korean war and is a purely political one. It is tied in also the non-recognition of the Peiping regime, a matter which the Chinese may also raise in discussing trade with Mr Churchill, for here again Canada follows willy-nilly in the wake of the U.S.A. Actually North America is inconsistent in withholding either de facto or de jure acknowledgement of Red China since it has diplematic and trade relations with other Communist nations. In the reality of things one might as well have nothing to do with Russia as keep China beyond a moral pale, for they are twins of the same lifeology. Nor, on the wider phase of hoped for peaceful co-existence, can there hoped for peaceful co-existence, can there be any improvement in international relationships when fish is made of one nation and flesh of another.

To trade with a nation is neither to approve its form of government nor condone its practices, any more than do the impersonal transactions which take place every day between individuals of varying degrees of character and beliefs. degrees of character and beliefs.

New Zealand Action

THE New Zealand budget introduced the other day came as a shock to axpayers in that country, even among those who had foreseen the need for corrective fiscal action in the light of many economic problems. The income tax was restored to its highest previous level, restored to its highest previous level, mainly through the removal of exemptions which formerly had applied. Government spending on ordinary purposes was curtailed sharply, import restrictions maintained, and social welfare services continued with some advance in cost. Coupled with recent oversas homeouthers. Coupled with recent overseas borrowings, the budget has set the pattern for New Zealand's stand against domestic inflation-ary trends in no uncertain manner in a tightened economy.

While New Zealand is a member of the sterling bloc, some of its export problems are akin to those in Canada. The nation has been hit by the progressive fall in has been not by the progressive tail, in hasic commodity prices in the markets of the world. Exports of butter to the United Kingdom ran into brisker competition from Western Europe. Wool prices, and New Zealand wool generally commands top prices, have fluctuated. The return for products sent overseas has shaded in value, while competition in world markets has also affected the me. For foreign exchange reasons Zealand had to limit imports, which n reflected in the total volume of

The administration's reaction to these conditions, and some of them are common to many exporting nations at the present time, has been to pull in the reins on public expenditure, increase taxation—by as much as 25 per cent in some instances set the stage against domestic inflation and build up the country's monetary re-serves. While there can be no exact comparison with Canada because many circumstances are different, it must have taken courage to present a budget which is so severely controlled with an eye to the balance sheet. This is correctional medicine for the New Zealand taxpayers. and no doubt politically hazardous. At the same time it is a policy which will increase world confidence in the country for its courage and realism.

Brunt, 55, is a corporation lawyer from Toronto and Hanover, Ont. He is the ball-of-fire type—of which there are not many examples in the aedate Senate. He operates on a fight work schedule which keeps him shuttling back and forth between Ottawa and Toronto. He is thus not an easy man to get to see, since Oct. 12, but he has been a close friend of Diefenbaker for 20 years. They met at the Tory convention which elected Dr. Bob Manion and, as Brunt says now, his reaction to Diefenbaker was "That's my boy—ha's going to be prime minister."

His boy has done just that, and in no small degree Brunt has contributed to Diefenbaker's success. He supported Diefenhaker's forlorn can didacy against John Bracken in 1942. He managed Diefenbaker's losing campaign against George Drew in 1948. He raised money for Diefen-baker's electioneering last year and this. He travelled with Diefenbaker throughout the election campaign of 1957 in the role of confident and counsellor. He is one of not more than a half-dozen members of parliament whom Diefenbaker trusts utterly and without reservation. He is the PM's fixer, adviser and friend office are frequently busy with calls from those who want him to act as their intermediary in approaching the PM or Mrs. Diefenbaker—for the latter was a friend of the Brunts long before she and Diefenbaker Diefenbaker promised last year that "We shall make the Senate πn effective instrument of government." That is the job he has assigned to reforming he's going to do in the Senate. But he is annoyed at the Senate's lack of work. He wants more legislation introduced first in the Senate, "where we have men of great ability who have more time to study legislation than the members of the Commons. We can take the rough edges off it for the Commons."

Communism"; and because American policy precludes the very notion that there are areas in the world where the only possibly rational policy is to make no entangling alliances, treat all parties with equal consideration, and mind one's own business. The "Eisenhower doctrine" is no guide. It provides for U.S. military intervention against a "Communist aggression. No aggression thus iden-tiliable exists or is in prospect in the Middle East, The revolt in Lebanon was initially inspired by a purely internal constitutional issue. Under the Lebanese constitution the president is elected for six years and may not serve another term. President Chamoun made it known that he intended to amend the constitution to per-mit himself to continue in office.

Now, politics are hot in Lebanon and this proposal was, of itself, sufinflame the strong opposi tion that exists against the adminis tration in office. Rebellions have started on such issues in numerous other times and places. If the situation were to be pacified, wise coun sellors would have advised the presithe first place, and then, finding it widely unpopular, to have withdrawn the proposal.

Nothing is more unfortunate for any government in the independent-minded Arab world than the committed support of any great power. Russia's prestige rests on the fact that she has never proposed military or political alliances, but has supported Nasser's rejection of them, whether

The initiative for the Egyptian-Syrian union did not come Egypt but from Syria, and the reason was to forestall a probable Communist coup by extreme leftwingers supported by important parts of the army. The later accession of Yemen was initiated by the king of Yemen, not by Nasser. There is no evidence that I have read to indicate that the objective of the Lebanese insurgents is to merge Lebanon completely into the U.A.R. Last March, in Damascus, Nasser explicitly stated that it was in the interest of the U.A.R. that Lebanon should remain independent. But he certainly doesn't want an independent Lebanon wielding a western knife at the U.A.R.

Were it not for a few able, conscientious newspaper reporters from the area, including the New York Fimes' military commentator, Hanson Baidwin, the American people, whose money and sons are involved, would have a totally faise picture of the situation.

Year's Peak Reached NEW YORK 'AP'-I-regular gains pushed the stock market to another peak for 1958 in fairly active dealings.

The advanca was the eighth atraight for the list on average.
The rise was moderate, similar to the seven preceding.

Tobacco stocks siumped at the atart by publication during the weekend of another adverse report on the health aspects of cigarets. But the early looses were cut or erased.

Gains appeared among steels, motors, rubbers, farm implements and electronics.

International Nickel fell 2's as it announced another cut in nickel production, international Paper was up 2's.

The Folly of Zeliee

LONDON (UPI)—Parents of 16-year-old Zelies Jeppe, of Johannesburg, South Africa, sent Zelies to the Sadleg's Wells Ballet School here, but her name turned up on a list of dancers in the London performances of the Folies Bergere of Paris.

Her mother saw her name in the list in a South African newspaper. Mrs. Jeppe cabled her daughter to return to Johannesburg "within two weeks"—or else. A reluctant Zeliee is on her way.

CHERRY TIME!

And let tasty B.C. Cherries add new interest to your summer meals . . . fresh, "stems on" for breakfast ... cherry tarts or other favorite cherry desserts for funch ... rich juicy cherry pie for dinner.

B.C. Cherries are at their best right now, sun-ripened, orchard fresh, and just bursting with flavor. The season is never very long though, so be sure you and your family enjoy B.C. Cherries often while the season lasts.

And watch for B.C. Apricots. This year B C will have an exceptionally fine crop of Apricots ... plenty for all your
